You can collaborate

The HACE GROUP wants to contribute to help protect the children's rights in an entertaining manner, a topic to take into account and so present in today's world.

From a broader perspective, it is considered CHILD ABUSE "Any non-accidental act, omission or neglect by parents, caregivers or institutions, compromising the satisfaction of basic needs of the child and preventing and interfering in their physical, psychological and / or social development". The objectives pursued by this booklet are:

- To that all those situations that violate the children's rights come to light.
- To encourage people to report any irregularities they see during their trips. Helping the Children's Protection competent Body with a rapid detection of high-risk situations and this way facilitating the most appropriate intervention for each case.
- To generate states of opinion against the social and family violence and for the children's rights.
- To move from the general attitude of scandal and outrage about the subject of abuse, to a participatory response, one of solidarity and understanding with respect to the solution of the problem.
- Help the minor in a hidden way to make the following universal distress signal:

The gesture is done in three stages: the victim raises his hand with the palm facing outward, then bends his thumb and finally closes the other fingers over it, encapsulating it to refer to "feeling closed or trapped." The palm of your hand should point towards the person you are asking for help.
